Seniors

JANET BROWN--The quiet Janet with her pleasant ways has helped make our school years enjoyable. She served on the Lion and Spotlight Staffs, acted in all the plays, participated in band and chorus 4 years, belonged to 4-H 6 years, and the Sunshine and Latin Club 1 year. She was secretary of her class 3 years, and treasurer 2 years.

LAVERNE CLARK--LaVerne could be counted upon to do his part always--on the ball team, in music, or class activities. He was pivot man on the basketball team 4 years, played softball 4 years, and ran track 4 years. He served as business manager for the Spotlight, belonged to 4-H 6 years, band 3 years, chorus 3 years, and helped on the Lion Staff. He also was in all of the plays. He won the Sportsmanship Award at the county tourney his junior year and made the all-county team his senior year.

SHIRLEY CUNNINGHAM--Shirley, who has so much talent on the stage, in writing, and in art, has always been right there with the goods. She has played important roles in all the plays, worked on the Lion and Spotlight Staffs, served on the Student Council 1 year, belonged to the 4-H Club 6 years, and the Latin Club 1 year. She was class treasurer 1953-54. In addition, she sang in the chorus 4 years.

DICK DILLMAN--Our curly-haired, blue-eyed Dick has added much to the enjoyment of the activities of the class with his unfailing good humour. He was in all the plays, played basketball 3 years, softball 4 years, played clarinet in the band  $3\frac{1}{2}$  years, and belonged to the 4-H Club 6 years. He served on the Spotlight and Lion Staffs, was president of his class 1950-51, and on the Student Council 1 year.

TOM FARRER--Tom has served the class and the school well. His unfailing courtesy and dependability have meant a lot to the class and the school. He presided over the Student Council 2 years, played lead roles in the plays, served as vice-president 2 years, worked on Lion and Spotlight Staffs, belonged to the Latin Club 1 year, 4-H Club 3 years, and sang in the chorus 2 years. Still he found time to play basketball 3 years, softball 2 years, and track 1 year.

DONALD FULTZ--Don, a friendly, cheerful person, whom everyone likes, has several accomplishments, too. He played basketball 3 years, ran track 1 year, played softball 3 years, worked on the Spotlight and Lion Staffs, sang in chorus 4 years, and belonged to 4-H 2 years. He was in all of the plays.

SALLY HICKEY--Our curly-haired Sally has never lacked the energy or enthusiasm for any task. She successfully led her class as president 3 years, and secretary-treasurer 1 year. She was cheer leader for 4 years, worked hard in 4-H 7 years, helped on the Spotlight and Lion Staffs, participated in band  $3\frac{1}{2}$  years and chorus 2 years, belonged to the Latin Club 1 year, and to the Sunshine Society 1 year. She played important parts in all of the plays.

JOHN SWANK--John, a very capable person, has been the "Judge," and an indispensable part of the class. He was in 4-H 6 years, Student Council 3 years, chorus  $2\frac{1}{2}$  years. He served as vice-president of his class 2 years, editor and junior editor of the Spotlight, and art editor of the Lion. He played 4 years of softball and basketball, and took part in all the plays.

Class History

In September, 1942, eleven timid souls entered the first grade of Lucerne School--Carolyn Baker, Janet Brown, Phyllis Brown, Richard Brown, Jane Collier, Richard Dillman, Carlton Fastoff, Donald Fultz, Sally Hickey, Robert Lower, and Thomas Shanks with Mrs. Powlen as the first teacher. The second year Helen Beecher and Harry Emily entered the class. Later the same year Harry moved away. Mrs. Powlen was again the teacher.

The third year there was a change of names and faces as we went into Mrs. Winn's room. Members of the class were Helen Beecher, Janet Brown, Richard Dillman, Donald Fultz, Sally Hickey, Robert Lower, ElRaye Shafer, Jannis Siddall, John Swank, and Leon Wallace. We lost two and gained two as we came into the fourth year. Robert Lower and Helen Beecher left us. but we gained LaVerne Clark and Barbara Minnear.

Again in our fifth year came a change in rooms and faces as we came to Mrs. Shafer's room. Our class was the same, except that we lost Jannis Siddall, but it did not change any during the sixth year.

The seventh year was a year of chaos and confusion as we came upstairs. We finally got organized and chose Mr. Anthony as our sponsor. Our class changed some; ElRaye Shafer and Barbara Minnear left us, and Tom Farrer joined us.

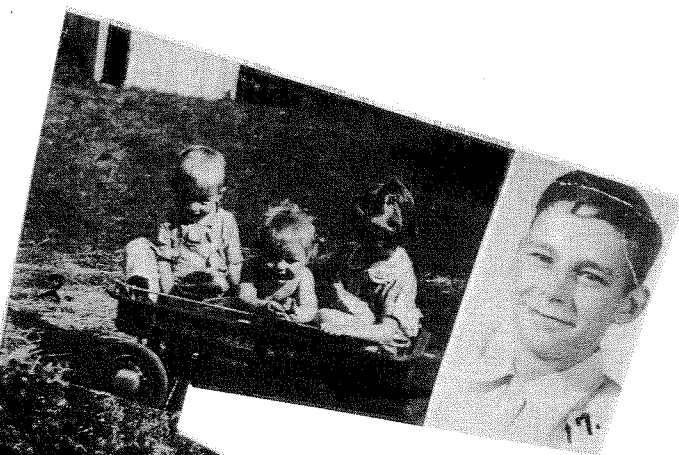

Time passed, and we soon became eighth graders, choosing Miss Grande as our sponsor. Among us this year were Janet Brown, Delores Bailey, LaVerne Clark, Richard Dillman, Donald Fultz, Tom Farrer, Sally Hickey, John Swank, and Leon Wallace. Tom left at the end of the year.

At last we were freshmen. We remained the same, except that Shirley Cunningham joined us. Miss Beardsley was our sponsor.

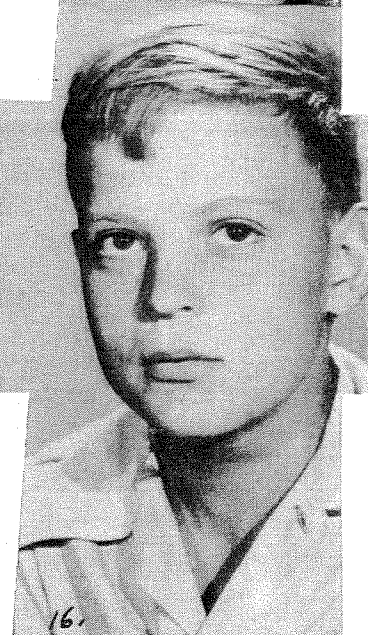

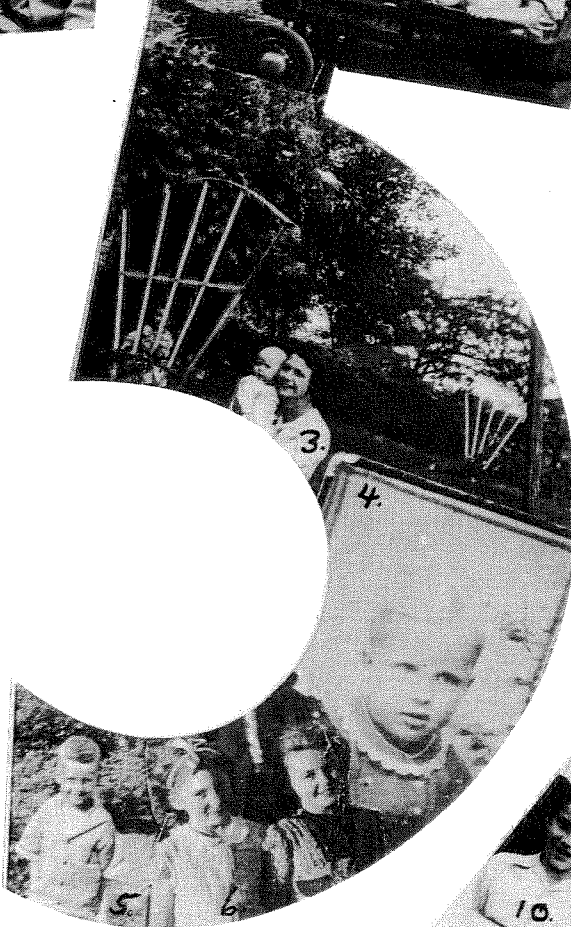

Taking the years in stride, we soon became sophomores. Our line-up was juggled somewhat as Leon Wallace and Delores Bailey decided on matrimony. George Odom came this year, but left us late the same year. Tom Farrer rejoined us at Christmas time. Our sponsor was Miss Beardsley.

We were almost there! We became juniors. Our class was the same as in our sophomore year. Miss Hall worked hard as our sponsor, helping us earn the money for our senior trip.

The time has finally come! We are now sophisticated seniors!!! We chose Mrs. Fickle as our sponsor, who is working hard to make our year a success. This year our class, mightier and fuller of education than ever, is made up of Tom Farrer, Sally Hickey, Donald Fultz, Shirley Cunningham, LaVerne Clark, Janet Brown, John Swank, and Richard Dillman.

Prophecy

I was looking over an Indiana road map one day, planning a vacation from my modeling career when I noticed a town, Lucerne--population 6,000--listed there. I could hardly believe my eyes! 6,000 people living in that tiny village! I decided right then to go back to see the old home town.

When I had arrived and was registered at one of the large hotels there in Lucerne, I decided to go strolling through the streets. I saw a large white house and there was a lady in the yard. I recognized her immediately as Sally Hickey. Stopping to chat awhile, I found she hadn't changed much at all. She was still a leader in many activities as she had been in her high school days. She was running a boarding house all by herself. She told me that Tom had joined the Marines right after graduation, had married a pretty little foreign girl, and was doing well with his veterinarian business. He was living in Indianapolis and had two small sons. Sally said she had not found the right man--yet.

She also informed me that Shirley Cunningham, now Mrs. John Smith, had gotten her doctor's degree after several years of hard study and that she was now the head of a large hospital recently erected in Lucerne. Even with all these duties she still found time for her home and daughter.

Just then a truck drove up and Sally exclaimed, "Oh, yes! This is the day that Don brings my eggs." When the driver, a tall, slim man, stepped out, I thought of another '54 graduate, Don Fultz. It seemed Don was doing fine with his poultry farm. He was very proud of his five tall sons who were on the basketball team of old Lucerne.

When the eggs had been taken care of and Don had gone, I asked Sally about the rest of the members of the class 1954, for whom we had not accounted. She said Janet Brown, after much debating on what she wanted to do after graduation, had decided on the teaching profession. She was not sorry, for while going to Ball State Teachers' College, she had met a boy who was destined to become her husband. They are now living in Lucerne, and Janet is the history teacher there, while her husband is principal at Metea.

Then I remembered John Swank and wondered what he was doing. Sally said that he had done very well for himself. While on the senior trip in Washington, D. C., he had met a very pretty girl whom he liked very much. It seems she was practically made of money, and now they own several large business places here.

Sally had lost track of her other two old classmates. So after spending a week just looking around that great city, Lucerne, I continued on my trip. I went to Chicago to do some shopping, as I was supposed to pick up a couple of dresses there for my boss. On a street I noticed a public auction sale. I just adore auctions! The auctioneer looked familiar with his blond curls and broad smile. Sure enough! When I managed to elbow my way a little closer, I saw that he was Dick Dillman. After everything had been sold, I went up to talk to him. He invited me to have dinner with him and his wife, the former Miss Shirley Hipes.

After dinner I asked Dick if he knew the whereabouts of LaVerne Clark, the only '54 graduate I hadn't learned about. He said he would show me, so he called a cab and we started out. The cab pulled up at Wrigley Field, and we hopped out. He said that we would find LaVerne here. Sure enough! There he was behind the plate catching for the Chicago Cubs. We enjoyed a very good game with LaVerne showing his power by smacking a homer over the center field wall.

That accounted for all the seniors of 1954, and now it was time for me to get back to New York and to my work. As I boarded the plane, I was thinking of each of the 1954 graduates of Lucerne High School and the places they had made in the world for themselves.

Class Will

We, the class of 1954 of Lucerne High School of the County of Cass and of the State of Indiana, being of sound mind, do hereby publish and declare this as our last will and testament--hereby revoking all former wills and bequeaths heretofore made by us.

We, the seniors, do bequeath our ability to make money and be a success in everything we do to the juniors, so they, too, may be a success.

We, the senior girls, do bequeath our ability to get our assignments right in Home Economics to the seventh grade, so that they won't have to tell the teacher they don't understand.

We, the senior boys, do bequeath our ability to get along with the Agriculture teacher to the sophomore boys, who surely need help badly.

I, Richard Dillman, do bequeath my ability to go steady to Phil Fletcher, who seems unable to keep a "steady" girl.

I, LaVerne Clark, do bequeath my ability to throw the shot put to Etta Swank, so that in the future she may become champion woman shot putter of the world.

I, Janet Brown, do bequeath my note book, books, and pencil stubs to my brother, who will need them in his two remaining years in high school.

I, Shirley Cunningham, do bequeath my role as an old maid to Patricia Cook, my ability to make good grades to Goldy, my enjoyment of public speaking to Bill, and my good manners and behavior to Ronnie.

I, Sally Hickey, do bequeath my ability to be yell leader to Jeanie Winn, who wants it very badly, and my curly hair to Shirley Roller, so she won't have to put up her hair every night.

I, Donald Fultz, do bequeath my nickname "Lover Boy" to Norman Warner, and my ability to create strange and fascinating inventions to Kenneth Brown.

I, Tom Farrer, do bequeath my ability to keep my temper on the basketball floor and not foul out to Norman Warner.

I, John Swank, do bequeath my basketball suit to Billy Fairchild, so he can play his two remaining years, and my ability as an eraser-thrower to Dick Winn.

Junior Senior Play

NO BOYS ALLOWED

After Rita saw Fred kiss that blond good-bye at the airport, she was through with him--but definitely! Blondes like that are nobody's cousin. Rita calls in Keith and Harvey to guard the girls attending her slumber party from intrusion. They steal the eats, making it look as though Fred and his Leroy are the culprits. Keith has Harvey scare the girls so he can play the hero. Fred has the same idea and has Leroy dress as a girl. A real intruder, the Midnight Prowler, further complicates matters. In the confusion Fred and Leroy are tied up by the girls, but Fred manages to escape and frees Leroy. The two dress as girls so that Fred can try to see Rita. In the end, Fred really does become a girl, when he mistakes the Midnight Prowler for Harvey and, dress and all, lands him in a flying tackle. When Jeanie Jones explains to Rita that the blond really was his cousin, Fred is once more on top of the world.

Cast of Characters

Keith Garland--Fred's rival-----Philip Fletcher
Harvey Smith--Keith's man Friday-----John Swank

HALLOWEEN PLAY

The seniors selected the one-act play "Short of Murder" to prepare for their part of the Halloween festival. The miserly Mr. Eaton disappeared, and the sheriff feared he had been murdered. With the help of a spinster, Aggie Jones, who had the "Detective Bug," he came to the conclusion that Don Mitchell was guilty. Before Don was arrested, however, Mr. Eaton returned home--a changed man. Some dissatisfied tenants had forced him to spend the rainy night in one of the run-down houses, clad only in a nightshirt and an old blanket.

Members of the Cast

Mitchell, A young auto mechanic-----Tom Farrer
Carr, A young stenographer-----Sally Hickey
Burton, An easy-going sheriff-----Richard Dillman
